guard/forward Kameron Chatman provided the heroics for the Maize and Blue with a three-point basket that gave the Wolverines the margin of victory with just two-tenths of a second left on the game clock.

The Hoosiers entered the postseason contest as the Big Ten's regular season champions and the nation's No. 10 team but were unable to dominate U-M as they had back on February 2 when they left Crisler Center in Ann Arbor with a decisive 13-point conquest. The first half saw numerous lead changes and ended with IU on top by just one point, 37-36.

The second half script unfolded much the same way as neither squad was able to take full control, but Indiana managed to build a five-point lead at 66-61 with just over two-and-a-half minutes left. Unfazed, Michigan tied the score at 69 apiece when Duncan Robinson hit a three-pointer with only 48 seconds remaining. After a turnover by OG Anunoby, the Wolverines headed down the court with just 20 seconds left. Junior guard Derrick Walton Jr., who struggled offensively all day and finished with just two points, nevertheless hit Chatman with a crisp pass in the right corner that set up the game-winning shot.

U-M junior guard Zak Irvin led all scorers with 17 points and contributed five defensive rebounds while fellow Wolverine guard Muhammad-Ali Abdur-Rahkman had 15 points. Read more about the matchup versus Indiana in a detailed recap on MGoBlue.com.

The upset win improved Michigan to 22-11 on the season and earned them a berth in the tournament semifinals on Saturday (March 12) versus Purdue, which is 25-7 on the season and ranked No. 13 in the country. CBS will televise the game with tipoff from Bankers Life Fieldhouse slated for 1 p.m. ET.
