Tips for Before and After Your Visit

Garden

• Explore an urban garden. Investigate the plants in our garden. During your exploration, ask questions:
  1. Which plants do you recognize?
  2. Which plants have you eaten?
  3. How is the Museum garden different from other gardens that you have seen?

• Plan a garden. Think about what you would plant in your own garden:
  1. How much space will you need?
  2. How much sunlight will you need?
  3. How will you get water to the plants?

• Try new things. If you have visited us before think of new ways to approach old favorites:
  1. Talk to a garden expert. Before your next visit check out our web calendar. Learn more about the planting process, how to build an urban garden or how to prepare the bounty of the garden for your table.
