At Huntington Ingalls Industries, we build ships that are statements of national purpose, and we don’t do it alone. Our network of shipbuilding suppliers is 5,000 companies strong and spans all 50 states. The dedicated men and women working in our supply chain help us build the ships that secure our nation’s freedom and support its economy. As one of the last heavy manufacturing companies in the country, Huntington Ingalls Industries plays an important role in America’s economic stability and growth.

THE STATE OF SHIPBUILDING AFFECTS EVERY STATE.
