DECEMBER 1, 2010 – JANUARY 2, 2011

(New York)– November 3, 2010 - Alvin Ailey American Dance Theater returns to New York City Center from December 1, 2010 – January 2, 2011 with exciting performances that have become a joyous holiday tradition. Led by the renowned Judith Jamison in her final year as Artistic Director, and joined by Artistic Director Designate Robert Battle, Ailey's extraordinary artists will move audiences with their brilliant artistry and passionate spirit in a series of 9 premieres and new productions, repertory favorites, special programs and performances celebrating Revelations at 50.

The December 1st Opening Night Gala Benefit, with all proceeds going to support Ailey's innovative educational and training programs for young people, will honor Joan H. Weill on her 10th anniversary as Chairman of Ailey's Board of Trustees. The one-night-only performance will begin at 7:00pm and include appearances by Honorary Chairs Robin Roberts and Alfre Woodard, as well as the company premiere of Robert Battle's *The Hunt and a new production of Alvin Ailey's *Cry, the iconic solo made famous by Judith Jamison. As a rousing finale, Ailey's beloved Revelations will be performed with live on-stage music by the Grammy award winning group Sweet Honey In The Rock. Afterwards, over 1,000 guests from the worlds of entertainment, business, philanthropy and politics are expected to join in a Gala dinner-dance at the Hilton New York (1335 Sixth Avenue between 53rd and 54th Street).

The season kicks off a celebration of five decades of Alvin Ailey's Revelations, an American classic called a must-see for all people, with live music, specially staged performances and other related initiatives throughout the year. In addition to opening night, the Grammy Award-Winning Sweet Honey In The Rock will bring their soulful harmonies and intricate rhythms to Revelations on New Year's Eve. Artistic Director Judith Jamison will have the conductors baton dancing while directing live musicians and a full choir, featuring the incomparable soloist Ella Mitchell, at not-to-be-missed performances on Friday, December 3rd and Saturday, December 4th at 8pm.

In a joyful nod to each year of Revelations' life, audiences will witness the ballet with a cast of 50 for the first-time ever! Dancers will fill the stage and spill into the aisles as promising students from The Ailey School and talented young dancers from Ailey II enjoy a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to dance alongside members of Alvin Ailey American Dance Theater during four performances (Dec. 3, 11 mat, 12 mat, 18 mat). Also, Target will sponsor Target 1960 Night, a performance with all tickets at $19.60 to help extend the accessibility and reach of this inspiring work to all audiences (Dec. 2).

A documentary short film will set the stage for Revelations, beginning each performance with an introduction to a half century of history, meaning and significance of this modern dance work of genius that is a tribute to the resolve and determination of a people and the human spirit. Directed by Judy Kinberg, winner of seven primetime Emmy Awards, it will include exclusive footage of Alvin Ailey and interviews with Judith Jamison and others. Audience members are invited to join in the exchange too, sharing their memories through My Revelations Story, via the blog of the AlvinAiley.org website, which will also feature Rediscovering Revelations, a dedicated section with historical context, background, and interactive features. Also, a commemorative souvenir program, that includes historic Revelations photos and more, will be on sale for those interested in a keepsake to bring the enduring artistry home from the theater.

For one extraordinary week, Jazz at Lincoln Center Orchestra with Wynton Marsalis will join the Ailey dancers for Ailey/Jazz, a joyous live music celebration of America's two great art forms – modern dance and jazz music – and two great jazz artists – Duke Ellington and Dizzy Gillespie. The program features the first full production in over 30 years of Three Black Kings, resulting from Alvin Ailey's legendary collaboration with the great Duke Ellington, and The Winter In Lisbon, Billy Wilson's tribute to Dizzy Gillespie and the four-decade career of this consummate jazz musician.

Among the premieres, former Company Member Christopher L. Huggins pays tribute to Ailey's past, present and future with Anointed, featuring the music of Moby and Sean Clements. Alvin Ailey American Dance Theater will also debut The Hunt, Robert Battle's explosive tour-de-force for six men, and The Evolution Of A Secured Feminine, Camille A. Brown's witty exploration of the notions of femininity. Ailey's performances mark the first time anyone other than Ms. Brown will perform the solo.

New Productions of significant works from the Ailey repertory will be shared with today's audiences, including: Forgotten Time, Judith Jamison's quietly uplifting work set to the haunting, otherworldly sounds of Le Mystere des Voix Bulgares; and The Prodigal Prince, a colorful and lavish depiction of real and imagined events in the life of the renowned Haitian painter Hector Hyppolite that was choreographed, composed and designed by Geoffrey Holder. In addition to Three Black Kings, other major Alvin Ailey works will be performed: Cry, Ailey's birthday gift for his mother, created on his muse Judith Jamison, and taught by her to subsequent generations of Ailey women; and Mary Lou's Mass, a celebration of life, jazz and gospel that was recently revived for the centennial of the birth of composer Mary Lou Williams.

Throughout the season, Ailey's extraordinary artists will move audiences with a diverse repertory that represents 23 ballets by 15 choreographers, including favorites such as Ulysses Dove's *Vespers, George Faison's *Suite Otis and Alvin Ailey's *Memoria, which will feature performances by some of the most talented students from The Ailey School.

In an exciting finish to the season, a Jamison Farewell Program on January 2nd will pay tribute to Ailey's leading woman with surprise guest artists and a one-night-only program highlighting a variety of much loved works and David Parson's gravity-defying, strobe-lit showstopper *Caught in its entirety (see program details below). For over two decades, Judith Jamison has been artistic director of the Alvin Ailey American Dance Theater, leading the Company to new heights around the world and into a permanent home – the nation's largest building dedicated to dance.

Named to TIME's 2009 list of the world's 100 most influential people, Ms. Jamison is the recipient of the Kennedy Center Honors, the BET Honors, and the National Medal of Arts. In 2010, Ms. Jamison was honored by First Lady Michelle Obama at the first White House Dance Series: A Tribute to Judith Jamison; accepted the 2010 Congressional Black Caucus Foundation's prestigious Phoenix Award and will be receiving The NYC Handel Medallion (the city's highest official honor) and the 2010 National Award for Citizen Diplomacy.

Alvin Ailey American Dance Theater inspires all in a universal celebration of the human spirit, using the African-American cultural experience and the American modern dance tradition. Share in the incomparable sense of joy, freedom, and spirit that bring audiences around the globe to their feet night after night – you don't just see an Ailey performance, you feel it!

WORLD & COMPANY PREMIERES

Anointed (2010)

Choreographer: Christopher L. Huggins

Music: Moby & Sean Clements

Former Ailey company member Christopher L. Huggins makes his first contribution to Alvin Ailey American Dance Theater's repertory with a new creation using music by Moby and Sean Clements. Having worked as a choreographer for the past eighteen years throughout the U.S., Europe, and Japan, his works for Ailey include When Dawn Comes... (2008) for Ailey II and Echoes of Alvin (2008) for The Ailey School. He was the 2002 recipient of the Ira Aldridge Award for best choreography for his work Enemy Behind the Gates for Philadanco. He has also choreographed for Cleo Parker Robinson Dance Ensemble, Dallas Black Dance Theatre, and Lula Washington Dance Theatre, among others. In 2007 National Public Radio named him "(a) choreographer to watch..."

The Hunt (2001)

Choreographer: Robert Battle

Music: Les Tambours du Bronx

Artistic director designate Robert Battle's athletic work for six men reveals the predatory side of human nature and the primitive thrill of the hunt. A thundering percussion soundtrack by Les Tambours du Bronx drives the explosive movement that runs the gamut from modern sports to the rituals of the gladiators. This is Mr. Battle's sixth work for the Alvin Ailey American Dance Theater.

The Evolution Of A Secured Feminine (2007)

Choreographer: Camille A. Brown

Music: Ella Fitzgerald, Betty Carter & Nancy Wilson

The female soloist in Camille A. Brown's witty portrait veers between uncertainty and carefree confidence to the music of Ella Fitzgerald, Betty Carter and Nancy Wilson. Using fast footwork and taut gestures, she explores the notions of femininity with humor, candor and impeccable timing. In her second work staged for Alvin Ailey American Dance Theater (2007's The Groove to Nobody's Business featured the music of Ray Charles), Brown again proves herself a gifted storyteller with a flair for keen observations of everyday life. This is the first time the solo will be performed by anyone other than the choreographer, who is artistic director of Camille A. Brown Dancers and a former member of Ronald K. Brown's Evidence.

NEW PRODUCTIONS

Forgotten Time (1989)

Choreographer: Judith Jamison

Music: Le Mystere des Voix Bulgares

In Judith Jamison's quietly uplifting work, the haunting, otherworldly sounds of Le Mystere des Voix Bulgares channels 12 dancers on a journey through ancient rituals of love and tribal rites of passage. Moments of complex partnering, dramatic imagery and breathtaking stillness are part of a sophisticated choreographic structure that evokes deep emotions and echoes with universal significance.

Three Black Kings (1976)

Choreographer: Alvin Ailey

Music: Duke Ellington

Alvin Ailey's three-part ballet, set to Duke Ellington's last major score, brings to life Balthazar, the Black king of the Nativity; Solomon, King of Israel; and Martin Luther King, Jr., Ellington's friend whose triumphs are celebrated in the inspiring finale. Sophisticated, lush and alluring, Ellington's music became part of a legendary collaboration with Alvin Ailey and left an indelible mark on American dance. At its premiere, The New York Times noted "...with its crescendo of gospel rhythms and its expressionist symbols of marches and martyrdom...moves the spectator" and The Daily News hailed the work as "An intensely moving vision..."

The Prodigal Prince (1968)

Choreographer: Geoffrey Holder

Music: Geoffrey Holder

Celebrated choreographer, dancer, designer, and two-time Tony Award-winner Geoffrey Holder choreographed, composed and designed this lavish ballet for AAADT that depicts real and imagined events in the life of the renowned Haitian painter, Hector Hyppolite. The goddess Erzulie and St. John the Baptist appear to the central character in a vision, inspiring his vivid illustrations of the African gods and goddesses that populate "a hypnotic and elaborate pageant," as described by Dance Magazine.

Mary Lou's Mass (1971)

Choreographer: Alvin Ailey (restaged by Masazumi Chaya)

Music: Mary Lou Williams

Alvin Ailey's joyous collaboration with jazz pianist and composer Mary Lou Williams, two artists who shared roots and memories in the southern church, is a deeply spirited work showcasing Mr. Ailey's inspired choreography and Ms. Williams' soulful and uplifting mass – "Music for Peace". This exuberant full-company work, called a celebration of life, jazz and gospel, is being performed in its entirety in 2010 for the first time in over 35 years on the centennial of the birth of Ms. Williams.

The Winter in Lisbon (1992)

Choreographer: Billy Wilson

Music: Dizzy Gillespie

Dizzy Gillespie's brilliant music sets the tone for this sizzling, sensuous ballet celebrating four decades of his work. Choreographer Billy Wilson pays tribute to Mr. Gillespie as the consummate jazz musician, in an atmosphere where the dancers challenge, tease and romance against a backdrop of rhythm and color in "A joyful dance that gives an emotional lift," according to the Associated Press.

Cry (1971)

Choreographer: Alvin Ailey

Music: Alice Coltrane, Laura Nyro, Voices of East Harlem

Alvin Ailey's Cry, choreographed as a birthday present for his mother, Mrs. Lula Cooper, and created the dance on his stunning muse, Judith Jamison, was an instant sensation. Dedicated to "all black women everywhere – especially our mothers," the sixteen minute tour-de-force solo in three sections is set to Alice Coltrane's "Something about John Coltrane," Laura Nyro's "Been on a Train" and "Right On, Be Free" by the Voices of East Harlem. Ms. Jamison, who has since taught the treasured role to subsequent generations of Ailey women, wrote of the work in her autobiography Dancing Spirit: "In my interpretation, she represented those women before her who came from the hardships of slavery, through the pain of losing loved ones, through overcoming extraordinary depressions and tribulations. Coming out of a world of pain and trouble, she has found her way-and triumphed."

CELEBRATING REVELATIONS AT 50!

Revelations (1960)

Choreography: Alvin Ailey

Music: Traditional

Starting with the opening night gala, this season kicks off a year-long celebration of 5 decades of Alvin Ailey's timeless masterpiece, *Revelations, an American classic called a must-see for all people. Alvin Ailey said that one of America's richest treasures was the cultural heritage of the African-American—"sometimes sorrowful, sometimes jubilant, but always hopeful." This enduring classic is a tribute to that heritage and to Ailey's genius. Using African-American religious music – spirituals - this suite fervently explores the places of deepest grief and holiest joy in the soul.

AILEY/JAZZ: A CELEBRATION WITH JAZZ AT LINCOLN CENTER ORCHESTRA AND WYNTON MARSALIS

For one extraordinary week only, Wynton Marsalis and the Jazz at Lincoln Center Orchestra will join Alvin Ailey American Dance Theater onstage for a joyous live music celebration of America's two great art forms - modern dance and jazz music – and two great jazz artists – Duke Ellington and Dizzy Gillespie. The program features rare performances of Alvin Ailey's *Three Black Kings, along with Billy Wilson's *The Winter in Lisbon. The great Duke Ellington composed Three Black Kings and some of the most exuberant orchestrations ever set to dance - sophisticated, sexy, lush and alluring, his music inspired some of Alvin Ailey's most memorable works. Dizzy Gillespie's brilliant music sets the tone for Billy Wilson's sizzling, sensuous tribute to four decade career of this consummate jazz musician.

Alvin Ailey American Dance Theater, recognized by U.S. Congressional resolution as a vital American “Cultural Ambassador to the World,” grew from a now-fabled 1958 New York performance that changed American dance. Now led by Judith Jamison, joined by artistic director designate Robert Battle, the Company has performed for an estimated 23 million people in 71 countries on 6 continents, including two historic residencies in South Africa, celebrating the African-American cultural experience and the American modern dance tradition. The Ailey organization also includes; Ailey II (1974), a second company of young dancers and choreographers; The Ailey School (1969), extensive dance training programs; Ailey Arts in Education & Community Programs, bringing dance into classrooms and communities; and The Ailey Extension, dance and fitness classes for the general public at Ailey’s home – The Joan Weill Center for Dance in New York City—the nation’s largest building for dance.
