If this is an effort for Epic Games to retain players out of Mac and iOS, it sure is a weird way to do so. Epic is offering to double the number of unused V-Bucks that were purchased on now defunct platforms nearly three months past. It's tough to assume that a player wouldn't have spent V-Bucks they purchased that long ago if they had the opportunity, of course, if they continue to remain platform less, extra unspendable V-Bucks will only remind players that they cannot play Fortnite in their platform on choice.
