

Interview Rubric

	Superior 10 points	Average 5 points	Poor 1 point
Questions	Student submits a list of at least 10 questions that were used for the interview. These questions are well designed to get basic information and interesting facts from the subject.	Student submits a list of questions, but there are not quite 10 and/or the questions were not sufficient for getting both basic information and interesting facts from the subject.	The student did not include a list of 10 questions.
Article	The article clearly describes this person's role as it relates to the ocean. It includes basic information as well as interesting tidbits about this career. It is written with a beginning, middle, and end. The student uses complete sentences and has no misspellings. He or she has clearly proofread the article to make sure there are no typos or errors.	The article mostly describes this person's role as it relates to the ocean. It includes basic information as well as interesting tidbits about this career. It may not have a clear beginning, middle, or it may include typos and mistakes that show the article was not proofread.	The article is unclear. It lacks detail and includes spelling and grammar errors.