

Name That Nature Sound

Kiara and her friends are outside drawing all the sounds they can hear in nature. What do you think they will hear today?

The kids all listen carefully.

What do you think is making that sound?

It's a group of sparrows up in a tree.

What's that?

Enrique points to a frog on a log.

The friends walk closer to the frog and hear something else.

Can you guess what it is?

It's a little stream.

Suddenly, the kids hear something behind them.

What could it be?

It's only a squirrel.

What is that?

It sounds big. Peter wonders if it could be an elephant.

It is an elephant, but it's just a recording. Kiara was just playing a trick. The kids all laugh. What a fun afternoon of naming nature sounds!
