

Main Lesson Book:
The Five Senses and Animal Communication Assignment

- Review the Five Senses by drawing and labeling them below.
- On the next page fill in the blanks with the correct animal.

Name: _____

The Five Senses

Animal Communication

1. Most animals (including people) use "body language" as well as sound and smell in order to communicate with one another. Look at the sentences below and fill in the correct animal that communicates in that manner. Use the Word Bank to find your animal names. Use the information you learned from the lesson and your research throughout the lesson.

Word Bank

Gorillas

Giraffes

Kangaroos

Dogs

Chimpanzees

Peacocks

Male fiddler crabs

Elephants

Swans

Dolphins

White-tailed deer

Bees

Prairie dogs

Whales

show alarm by flicking up their tails.

may slap their tail on the water to get the attention of others in the area.

thump their hind legs to warn others of danger.

dance when they have found nectar.

fan their feathers in an impressive visual display intended to communicate a territorial warning.

Animal Communication (continued).

[]

press their necks together when they are attracted to each other.

[]

entwine their long necks both to fight and to court.

[]

stretch their front legs out in front of them and lower their bodies when they want to play.

[]

greet each other by touching hands.

[]

bare their teeth and press their mouths together to discover if they are friends or foes.

[]

stick out their tongues to show anger.

[]

show affection by entwining their trunks.

[]

wave their giant claw to attract female fiddler crabs.

[]

breach repeatedly to send messages to others.

