

Announcements

When you first login, always check for new posts in the Announcements area next to today's date. Announcements are class-wide messages that give you important information and updates on your courses.

Teachers use announcements to talk about lessons, address common questions, and keep in touch with their students.

New announcements appear in bold, just select any message to expand it.

You can also review past announcements at any time, and look up key words in the search bar.

Use the Filter by Course icon to display announcements by subject.

To return to all course announcements, use the course filter option again and select all courses.

Access announcements from any page by clicking the callout icon in the navigation bar, or by visiting the main menu and choosing communication.

Be sure to check out your class announcements often to keep on top of the latest news and tips, so you have all the info you need to do your best!
