Glasgow Jazz Festival & St. Luke's will host Fionna & featured friends in a Sunday evening show that promises to be one not to miss. This special concert honours Fionna's massive contribution to Scottish Jazz singing. Flanked by her longtime collaborator Brian Kellock (Scottish Jazz Awards Best Instrumentalist 2019) on piano, Fionna returns to the stage just a year after winning her Lifetime Achievement award at the 2018 Scottish Jazz Awards. Celebrating her 80th year, Fionna will join forces with The Bevy Sisters, an outfit with harmony and sisterhood at their very core, to harness a 30 strong pop-up choir formed for one performance only. Witness a true master of her craft at work in a programme of stunning harmonies and raw emotion. Sets by The Bevy Sisters and Fionna & Brian Kellock will end with an unmissable group finale featuring the specially created Glasgow Jazz Festival pop-up choir.

The aforementioned workshop, which is now sold out, pays homage to Fionna's historic Jazz Vocal Workshops, which played a regular part in Glasgow Jazz Festivals annual proceedings. The Bevy Sisters, most of whom graduated from Fionna's renowned vocal workshops and fresh from inviting pop-up choirs along to their dates across Scotland, thought it would be a good idea to bring the famed workshop and Fionna, back to the stage and so pitched the idea to festival.

Fionna Duncan, the matriarch of Scotland's jazz singers on the upcoming workshop & concert at St. Lukes:

'The Bevy Sisters are three students from various years who took part in my Jazz course – all in one band! They've made me doubly proud by organising this concert and giving me the honour to headline in my own City (Glasgow) in my 80th year. All of us, still learning, still singing, still swinging!'

The Bevy Sisters are one of Scotland's leading close-part harmony groups - equally comfortable in the worlds of Jazz, Folk, Americana, and Blues. With their original songwriting, the Bevy's put a modern spin on these genres in a masterful and elegant way.

Brian Kellock is one of the UK's finest and most in-demand jazz pianists, acclaimed for a distinctive, swinging, playing style which has classic jazz piano influences at its heart but can never be second-guessed. Winner of Best Instrumentalist at Scottish Jazz Awards June 2019.
