

Play Me A Sad Song Again

Vida Wakeman/Stephen Mougin

There's something about a sad song that always makes me smile
Forgetting the world for a while
And sometimes the beauty is written in pain
So play me a sad song again

Bartender pour me another
Me and the band sure agree
And I've lost my mind cause every line
Seems to be written about me

Take me away to the moment
I first fell in love with you
I thought I had seen the life of my dreams
Until I remember the truth

Truth in your smile, truth in your eyes
Truth in your voice when you said goodbye
The truth is I've only been living a lie and that's why
