Uwe Kind Visits NDHS

On Monday, April 7, 2014, North Dorchester High School freshmen attended a concert by Uwe Kind, a world-known German educational musician. The concert was sponsored by the German Society of Maryland. Uwe Kind, a former German teacher, emigrated from Germany and currently lives in the United States. While teaching, he discovered that students learn vocabulary well through song and motion. He developed a method of teaching called Lingotech and he travels the world giving concerts and sharing his passion for language and music. His next concerts after NDHS were in Italy and Russia.

Uwe Kind was able to perform for the 9th grade class. He invited all of the 9th grade students to participate in his program. Mrs. Eames' German I students were called on stage to lead the audience with the songs and motions. By the end of the program, many more students wanted to come on stage and participate. Students learned about aspects of German culture and language while having a good time. All in all, the concert was a big success.
