Can you shake your shaker like a rattlesnake?
Can you glide on the breeze like a hawk?
Can you sing and howl like a coyote?
Can you run, run, run like a fox?

Predators—oh, predators and prey!

They're not mean; they just gotta eat; so you'd better stay out of their way!

“Wait a minute—are you saying that I could get eaten by a rattlesnake, a hawk, a coyote or a fox?”

“Well, not you; you're too big. But if you were a ground squirrel...”

“Ooooh...”

Can you open wide like a pelican?
Can you stay up all night like a bat?
Can you swim super-fast like a river otter?
Can you spray a stink like a skunk?

Predators—oh, predators and prey!

They're not mean; they just gotta eat; so you'd better stay out of their way!

“Wait a minute—are you saying that I could get eaten by a pelican, a bat, an otter, or a skunk?”

“Well, not you; you're too big. But if you were a fish...”

“Ooooh...”

Can you hibernate like a badger?
Can your eyes glow yellow like a mink?
Can you change your color like a weasel?
Can you slither like a big bullsnake?

Predators—oh, predators and prey!

They're not mean; they just gotta eat; so you'd better stay out of their way!

“Wait a minute—are you saying that I could get eaten by a badger, a mink, a weasel, or a bullsnake?”

“Well, not you; you're too big. But if you were a mouse...”

“Ooooh...”

Can you strip tree bark like a black bear?
Can you tear live flesh like a—

“Wait a minute! I know where this is going...”

“Yep...”

Predators—oh, predators and prey!

They're not mean; they just gotta eat; so you'd better stay out of their way!

Predators—oh, predators and prey.

They're not mean; they just gotta eat, so you'd better;

Yes, you'd better;

Yes, you'd better stay out of their way!
