

Dino Dakota

By Kittyko

©2010 Kristin Kitko

www.kittyko.com

Pre...cambrian! I said, Pre...cambrian!
That's when...the earth was born;
And that's when... rocks were formed!

A long time ago in North Dakota before there were dinosaurs
There were miles and miles of rocks and lava after the explosion of the supernova—
It was Pre...cambrian!

Do...do...

Paleo...zoic, yeah!
I said Paleo...zoic, yeah!
That's when...clams were born;
And that's when spiders headed for shore!

A long time ago in North Dakota
The reptiles began takin' over.
Plants took root and there were jawless fish;
And some even grew cartilage
In the Paleo...zoic, yeah!

Do...do...

Meso...zoic, yeah!
I said, Meso...zoic, yeah!
That's when dinosaurs were born;
And that's when mammals came along!

A long time ago in North Dakota
The weather was a lot like modern Florida.
Plants started blooming and the dinosaurs ate 'em
Until the dinosaurs said, "See ya later," In the Meso...zoic, yeah!

Do...do...

Ceno...zoic, yeah!
I said Ceno...zoic, yeah!
That's when primates started climbing trees;
And that's when they evolved into you and me!

A long time ago in North Dakota
There were rivers and streams and wide savannas.
We're still in the Cenozoic era, in fact;
Do you wonder what will happen next after the Ceno—zoic, yeah!