CART BEFORE THE HORSE: MARVIN THOMPSON JR. ANNOUNCES THE RELEASE OF NEW ALBUM, WHEN THEY CALL.

Recording artist and producer Marvin Thompson Jr. has literally put the cart before the horse with the new album When They Call (3/31/20 on DecemberSky). This concept album features original compositions penned for film, but there's a twist-the film on which this soundtrack is based has yet to be imagined.

"I've written music for indie films in the past, and one of my goals is to take film composition to the next level. When They Call is my predestined love letter to the genre I know I'll be a big part of in the near future. My hope is that this soundtrack with no movie will encourage other artists and dreamers to create the opportunities they desire."

When They Call will be released on all digital platforms on March 31st. A limited edition CD will be available, and will feature bonus tracks and alternate takes.

On April 25th, an official listening session hosted by Spread Art Detroit will feature filmmakers using music from When They Call, adding musical texture to their original short films and videos.
