

oh white waves of memory pour sweetly over my painted heart faceless movement in my body rolling where my senses are oh you are the eyes in my mind's eye, you are the singing light that whispers to me through the leaves where I'm breathing tonight oh tonight your gentle eyes give a spark to the room and then the world comes alive and I know that I'm finally home oh you are the tide that wraps its yearning fingers through my lonely hair and whispers so sweetly you love me, when I lean in there's no one there oh I have loved and I can see that there is everything there to find its in the glory of every soul and its in the burden of every mind

your gentle eyes give a spark to the room
and then the world comes alive
and I know that I'm finally home

come and dance with me, please dance with me i want to feel you feeling my love, feel your flame in my soul oh revery, oh revery
I want to whisper to you every holy secret I know If i can ask your gentle heart to come and kill me slow oh wait my baby wait, can you just feel the aching swell of every memory whispered here, if it is whole and whispered well and I want to tell you so much more, but I fear there's nothing left to tell i'm only human, and I feel heady, and I have nothing left to sell oh i'm just a woman, and I know I love you, I may be underneath your spell oh i'm only human, and I know I love you, and this life's unparalleled