

“Hailing from Toronto, a growing hotbed for Old-Time music, Lonesome Ace Stringband packs a punch with their fiery, gritty, and groovy sound. Following up on their acclaimed debut album, their latest release “Gone for Evermore” is easily one of my favorite albums of 2016 and delivers with a hearty blend of rockin’ instrumentals and songs. Comprised of three of the most accomplished Old-Time musicians on the planet, the Lonesome Ace Stringband does a masterful job melding their talents. From John Showman’s unmistakably creative fiddling to Chris Coole’s banjo wizardry and Max Heineman’s driving bass playing topped off with the group’s soulful singing, Lonesome Ace has sculpted a fresh sound with an age-old grit rarely heard in today’s acoustic music soundscape.”
