

Sean Christopher- SHORT BIO-"Mystique CD" 2016

The release of Sean Christophers long awaited Music Album is a promise fulfilled. A promise he made to himself at the beginning of 2015. The album was actually created 20 years ago technology was not up to Sean's standards. Now with better technology and equipment he has created his life's desire.

As someone who has never gone to music school, Sean found his passion through dedicated hard work as he taught himself how to be a composer. He found his inspiration through his blood. As Sean has playfully put it, his love for the violin and viola, "his grandfather's fault". That would be Dennis McGee who was a well-known legend in Louisiana Cajun music. Sean's family tree also includes his father Gerry McGee who is a successful guitar player that accompanied both Eric Clapton and the iconic Elvis Presley. Sean's mother Anne McGee is a Children's author as well as a singer and songwriter. It was from her that Sean gained his understanding of artistic writing.

The other interest he has in this project, is his art work and photography. As part of the marketing effort Sean, has created a picturesque book. This book shows the artwork created for each song and includes a deeply meaningful description of the message each song is trying to convey.

The album is looking at a release date around the middle of June-July.
