

I Am the Preacher

Train came led me to some destination let me at least feel that I am free Trapped is no longer my situation
You told me to follow my dreams
They said I'd find god up in the sky
But when I looked he was looking for me Turn around and your whole life flashes by So i stopped and I took a seat

And I know its ridiculous And I know that for a while I've been thinking this but finally my mind is at ease

Follow me said the man to his life his life said just let me be Go away go away go away go away so I can breath
Its not you actions its that thing deep inside Gonna be there when you wallow away So fall down the stairs what you find might blow your mind

Train came, I saw it leave the station
It left without you and me See the world now with both my eyes reached the top and it was nothing but grey And when they said I'd find god up in the sky
What i found was nothing but me
I was the preacher and that scares the shit out of me
