

Love Mystique

i keep coming back to every little thing i've done to stay connected when every other thought is gone so share your secrets and tell me how you feel when all you say is it's not real

i see you coming back to love when i thought you had enough now when i fall i land on my feet in a love mystique

in the darkness my mind is scattered 'round i'm sorting through it 'till every little piece is found so when you find me, i'm well on my way i hear your voice, you call my name

in a love mystique

if you're going to bet your life on someone else's intuition the lonely suffer, don't make me i'll lay down in a love mystique
