

Changing Roles

Help me out with my honesty and show me where you are 'cause we're all playin' a part, ya see, much bigger than before we've kept ourselves from the pain we felt, it wasn't our fault maybe it's time to let it out and play a different part and I know we're changin' roles

and I know we're changin' roles forget the thoughts that kept you inside, the things that you were told the smallest part of a bigger lie, they'll never know our world

and I know we're changin' roles
and I know we're changin' roles

help out a friend show me where I belong the tears will abide exploring the night with you

and I know we're changin' roles
and I know we're changin' roles