

Violets

i know you doubt it but everything is turning up a sea of violets the flower of devoted hearts i know you're right here you know i'm right here for you too

i know you doubt it, i know you do but my silence has more to prove

i saw you walking i was talking to myself and then you stopped me now i'm lying on the floor worried about my health
i know you're right here
you know i'm right here for you too

i know you doubt it, i know you do
but my silence has more to prove

fields of violet, pouring rain but you can't save everyone if you turn the other way so rest your eyelids and i'll send something through the night white-purple violets the way i see you in this light

i know you're right here
you know i'm right here for you too

i know you doubt it, i know you do
but my silence has more to prove