

Radio

I feel so bright and I feel so fine
No wonder why things move so light

I see the world but in one word
I think it's blind
But now you're right,
I should open my eyes

Wake at six in the morning it's a daily fight
No wonder why things move so hard

Don't see the world, just hear the world
And you will find
Beautiful tunes that will make you smile

Listening to the radio
Searching for the sunrise
Living in a moving small box in stereo
No matter what you chose to play I sing

Day by day it's all the same
If it is raining or the sun is shining in my head
What is happening in the world today
It's just the same I listened yesterday

Listening to the radio
Searching for the sunrise
Living in a moving small box in stereo
No matter what you chose to play I sing

I know you're hearing
Why don't you feel it?
I know you'll feel alright

Why don't you feel it?
I know you're hearing
I know you'll feel alright

And, who are you?

Listening to the radio
Searching for the sunrise
Living in a moving small box in stereo
No matter what you chose to play I sing
