

Mary Sue Wilkinson

Mary Sue Wilkinson is the founder of Singing Heart to Heart™ and the Young at Heart Music Program. She is a career educator and a professional musician. And she loves to sing! Her flagship program, Young at Heart Music, is devoted to bringing the joy of music and singing to seniors with decades of life experiences and memories tied to music. Mary Sue is available as a trainer and as a keynote speaker sharing her expertise about the power of music to awaken memories and bring joy. Her CD "Songs You Know By Heart" and her E-Book "Finding Memories through Music: A Family Interview" as well as other resources are available on her website: www.SingingHeartToHeart.com. Together with Tiyi Schippers, Mary Sue also provides music experiences for young children and training for early childhood educators.

Mary Sue currently lives in Traverse City, Michigan. She has one son and a daughter-in-love. In addition to singing with seniors, Mary Sue still occasionally finds time to sing with youth children and her Americana duo Drive South.