

Sing Out!

(Vol 54 No. 4)

STEVE CONN

BEAUTIFUL DREAM

Throughout his three-decades-plus career, soulful singer/sublime pianist Steve Conn has made his living as a studio musician, backing the likes of Bonnie Raitt, Albert King and Arlo Guthrie among others, while releasing the occasional solo album along the way. This project proves his most accomplished yet and features a raft of his longtime pals (including Sonny Landreth, Dennis Taylor and Doug Belote) joining in on ten unflinchingly honest, handcrafted songs dealing with the human condition in its many variations – from the fiery blues of “It Is What It Is” and the revival-tent thankfulness of “Let The Rain Fall Down,” to the shameless skepticism underlying “Thinking In Tongues” and the shimmering reflections of Motown-styled remorse evident in “I’m Losing You.” More please.

Gary von Tersch, Sing Out! (Vol 54 No. 4)

STEVE CONN
BEAUTIFUL DREAM

Throughout his three-decades-plus career, soulful singer/sublime pianist Steve Conn has made his living as a studio musician, backing the likes of Bonnie Raitt, Albert King and Arlo Guthrie among others, while releasing the occasional solo album along the way. This project proves his most accomplished yet and features a raft of his longtime pals (including Sonny Landreth, Dennis Taylor and Doug Belote) joining in on ten unflinchingly honest, handcrafted songs dealing with the human condition in its many variations – from the fiery blues of “It Is What It Is” and the revival-tent thankfulness of “Let The Rain Fall Down,” to the shameless skepticism underlying “Thinking In Tongues” and the shimmering reflections of Motown-styled remorse evident in “I’m Losing You.” More please.

Gary von Tersch, Sing Out! (Vol 54 No. 4)