

Trent Agecoutay

Phone: 587-597-0950 trentagecoutay@gmail.com

TrentAgecoutay.com

@TrentAgecoutay

TrentAgecoutayMusic

Trent Agecoutay

Songwriter
Bassist
Entertainer

"Pure homegrown Alberta Talent. Fine songwriter, entertainer and he learned from the best of'em." –Dick Damron, Canadian Country Music Hall of Fame Inductee

- Festivals
- Talent Shows (backing band)
- Host/Master of Ceremonies
- Studio Session Recordings for Bass, acoustic guitars
- Song-Writing Collaboration
- Song-Writing Workshops
- Backing Musician (sideman)
- Live Music Showcases
- Amateur comedy events

TrentAgecoutay.com

@TrentAgecoutay

TrentAgecoutayMusic

Trent Agecoutay has many stories to tell and he learned to craft his skill as a musician's musician, playing dancehalls since he was a teen. His sound is pure Alberta country.

Trent watched his Dad from a very young age, sit at the kitchen table and write songs. He always had a pot of coffee, a lit cigarette and an old tape recorder. Trent would hide in the next room and listen to the stories his Dad would create. His love of music and story telling would eventually inspire him to start composing his own songs. Trent's do it yourself attitude lead him to invest in recording gear. He learned by trial and error and never stopped pushing forward. Trent has produced two albums for his Father's band Duster, as well as both his solo projects. Trent continues to record himself as well as mentoring new artists.

Trent currently works as a Housing Outreach worker in Edmonton, AB. His work in the inner city has inspired Trent to compose a new E.P. "YEG A Place to Call Home". Trent writes songs that reflect the diversity of the urban Indigenous community. The new E.P. will cover subjects that relate to an Indigenous person experiencing Homelessness in Edmonton. Trent's mission is to use his art to express the human experience; raw, witty and unwavering.

Discography and Accolades

2018 - Now and Then

- Nominee Edmonton Music Awards, Best Indigenous Recording
- Nominee Indigenous Music Awards, Best Country
- Nominee-Native American Music Awards, Best Country Recording
- Nominee-Indian Summer Music Awards, Best Country Recording

2014 – I Don't Regret a Thing

- Winner - Best Country Recording, Indian Summer Music Awards
- Nominee - Canadian Aboriginal Music Awards. Best Duo/Group and Best Country Album

Country Music Entertainer · Musician · Songwriter · Producer

trentagecoutay@gmail.com • Edmonton, Alberta Canada