

PIANOFEST 2019

Welcome! This educational workshop-style festival has been conceived by the Cowichan Valley Music Teachers' Association to offer piano students an opportunity to extend their music study by preparing and playing for an adjudicator and audience in a friendly, low-key atmosphere. This year we are also offering the same opportunity to some harp students as well. Parents and other guests are welcome to enjoy listening to the students perform and work with the adjudicator.

You'll see that classes are small and relatively short in length. We appreciate your time and effort in getting yourself or your children to the classes at the appointed time.

Students will receive a verbal adjudication, and will work with the adjudicator at the keyboard. No performance marks will be given. The emphasis throughout will be on encouragement and learning in a workshop setting.

Please bring a published copy of your music for the adjudicator. Photocopies may not be used. Make sure that bar numbers are marked at the beginning of each line. If you don't have a published original copy, you will need a letter of permission from the publisher.

Students are expected to perform in the class scheduled, and scheduling is final. Refunds will be given in the case of illness, on receipt of a doctor's certificate. If cancellations are necessary, please contact Ruth Williams at 250-748-8314, or rmwilliams@shaw.ca. Please note that the Pianofest organizers reserve the right to make the final decision on any questions and irregularities which may arise.

Thanks again for being with us!
