

Kim Martin-Bio (short)

Kim Martin is a Country-Rock artist from Los Angeles, California blending her laid-back style with Southern Rock!

Currently in the launch phase of her EP “Old Southern Soul” on her label Bellavicious Records. Produced by Hank Linderman (Eagles, Chicago, America).

Old Southern Soul is the culmination of genuine heart with a fresh outlook on the country scene. It’s got that chilled California vibe intertwined with the grit of Southern rock.

In a sea of emerging country artists, Kim stands out not only as a singer/ songwriter, but also a fluent bassist/lead vocalist, with an extensive and versatile range of influences; ranging from Linda Ronstadt, Dolly Parton, The Eagles, Janis Joplin, Gretchen Wilson, etc...Great story telling, harmonies, and strong vocals with memorable melodies are what inspire her.

Kim comes from a musical family, she has been singing since grade school and started playing bass age 14. Music is in her heart and soul. Writing, sharing, and performing is what drives her and moves her soul. She is a graduate of Berklee College of Music-Boston MA, (Bass Guitar) and Grove Music School- Van Nuys, CA (recording).

Kim has an intense work ethic as a full-time musician playing over 200 shows a year, bandleader, and recording artist. She is also a crowd favorite at the Costa Mesa Speedway for the National Anthem.

In July 2017, she enjoyed a week residency at The MGM Grand Arena, Las Vegas, as a vocalist in Kevin Eubank’s Band (The Tonight Show) for Microsoft Ready Convention.

December 2017, her band performed on the TV Show Musicology on KVCR PBS.

Jan 2018-Kim kicked off the year with several online Magazine/Radio featured interviews: Including AVA Live Radio, American Pride Magazine and Indie Artists Magazine.

She is also the first country artist to be sponsored by Chromacast Music Gear
