

Your throat starts to close, and then you know
How much one word can bring back your thoughts buried deep
The memories you want to keep, but far back no one can see

So you put your head down, you can't look around
Cause every face is so condescending of a young girl
Who believed that he knows what love means

1 night you'll spend alone before
2 hearts will soon grow cold and the
3 words that now mean nothing more than broken

Your heart hangs heavy but no tears can fall
On the hidden photographs placed anywhere but the wall
Cause all it takes is one look, and you'll fall apart

1 night you'll spend alone before
2 hearts will soon grow cold and the
3 words that now mean nothing more than broken

Ooh, and it's nothing like you can describe
Darkness fades down into your mind and covers your eyes
As time just passes you by

1 night you'll spend alone before
2 hearts will soon grow cold, and the 3 words that now mean nothing more than broken.