

Groove Think

Info

Label: Self-released
Genre: Progressive Rock / Funk Metal
Hometown: Austin, TX
Influences: Rush, Jamiroquai, Dream Theater

Biography

Groove Think is an innovative rock trio that fuses progressive rock with elements of groove metal, funk, and jazz, creating an energetic live performance that will make your head bang and set your feet to dancing. Groove Think established in October of 2010 with Frederick Jones on guitar, Corey Isaacks on bass and Mike Krieger on drums. The band has recorded two EPs and one LP, played hundreds of gigs throughout Texas and the Southern United States, and has performed at multiple festivals including Pecan Street Festival and SXSW. Their most recent full length album entitled 'Intellect' was released on May 2nd 2015. GT's second concept album, an extension of 'Intellect', is due out sometime in the fall of 2017.

Notable Shows

- Greg Howe at Stubb's (Austin, TX) - House of Blues (Dallas, TX) - The Discovery (Little Rock, AR) - VoyagerFest (Austin, TX) - Center Stage (Santa Fe, NM) - Wakarusa Qualifier at The Parish (Austin, TX) - Head For The Hills Festival (Kerville, TX) - SXSW Pre-Party at The Scoot Inn (Austin, TX)

Press

"Groove Think's live show is full of energy, soul, and of course a killer bass line. — Margaret Galton w/ C3 Presents

"The band members are all accomplished musicians with amazing individual skills, but also the ability to move as one with the rest of the group. So, while ominous walls of guitar wash past, you can count on perfectly timed drum fills and crazy good bass to tie it all up in a great little package." — The Prog Mind

