

Way Too Much

Hello, Baby. Haven't we met?
I think we did but haven't been
Formally introduced quite yet
But I know you and you know me
We're just strangers from the outside
What you want is what I got but it's way too much
Way too much, way too much, way too much

Don't I know you from somewhere before?
I just read everything there is
About you about the situation
You handed me, you handed him everything you are Won't you have a little bit more
Until it's way too much
Way too much, way too much, way too much

What you want is what I got
What's the use? I think I've heard enough
The times have changed
But we've remained on the outside
Step on up and ride awhile
Either you're on or off the bus
Way too much, way too much, way too much
