

Nightfall

There's this boy with no regrets
And his future's meant to last
But his wounds he can't deny

Life would put him through a test
Suffering was a lifelong guest
The way out's his own demise

So he asked the demon inside if there was
Yet another lullaby
To be sung for him that night

And the creature woke up at last and it
Answered to the boys request
In a silent winter's night

I am the one who's calling from inside
Your own fears and disgrace
You will not make it to the other side
From flesh to cinder merciless

Desecrated decay

My hope shall be this horizon
And the sun shall rise again
And this heart dies filled with denial
