

4. YOU'VE GOT THE LOVE THAT MATTERS (featuring Steve Robinson & John Baker)

Had to be dishonest
Had to get my way
Tried to give you everything if only you would stay
My friends said I was crazy
They said I was a fool
But they don't see what I see c
It makes my heart so blue
You, you've got the love
You've got the love that matters
You, here and now, you're the one
Feel my life has just begun
In my heart I know that we can last forever
Turn around, can't you see
You and I ewere meant to be
You've got the love that matters
And that's enough for me

Time to tell the truth now
I need to be sincere
I'm tired of all the make-believe, the things they want to hear
Tell me I'm not crazy
Tell me I'm no fool
Can you see what I see when I'm lying here alone with you
Say you feel it too
You, you've got the love
You've got the love that matters
You, here and now, you're the one
Feel my life has just begun
In my heart I know that we can last forever
Turn around, can't you see
You and I were meant to be
You've got the love that matters
And that's enough for me

Never had the chance to leave the past behind
Never had the chance to read the signs
Can't you see we can make it
You've got the love that matters

Written by: James Warren, Glenn Tommey and John Baker

Published by: Sundried Songs

Recorded at: Glenn's Garage, Inner State

Engineered by: James Warren and David Lord

Backing track: James Warren

Piano and organ: Glenn Tommey

Vocals: James Warren, Steve Robinson, John Baker

Mixed by: David Lord