

My Heart Remains

A phone call late one evening said you would set me free
You gave me no answers you just went on without me
How long did you know you were leaving
I wonder how long did you let me play the fool
This great future I believed in was never going to come true

All of the lies that we said the signs that I never read
They should fade like your memory
But as time goes on my heart remains

At night when I hear you call
I hope it will fade with break of day
I'm still haunted by the truth
I can't let you fade away

Your memories won't leave my mind
These empty walls echo my pleas
Restless nights won't leave me alone
Til you've come home to me
All of the games that we played
All the plans you changes
They should fade like your memory

But as time goes on my heart remains
