About the Musicians

PJ Brunson has long been one of the most familiar faces on the acoustic singer-songwriter scene. But, her first love was the piano, and she was composing piano instrumentals long before taking up the guitar.

Laurie Neal is one of the busiest classical violinists in South Carolina, a first choice for weddings and churches, and a popular strolling violinist and instructor.

Now, these two accomplished and experienced musicians join musical forces to form a unique piano-violin duo.

Ananda

An enchanting blend of piano and violin

In Sanskrit, “Ananda” means “perfect bliss”. That’s how we feel when we play this music. We hope you’ll feel it, too.

The Music of Ananda...

Music is truly the universal language, and Ananda captures that universal appeal.

The duo specializes in original music that crosses the lines between Celtic, classical, and new age. Think Yanni, Windham Hill, Narada, Jim Brickman. Unique arrangements of beloved classics round out our set list.

The versatile backgrounds of both musicians provide a wide range of music so there's something for everyone.

If you are looking for music that's unique, yet the perfect compliment for your event or establishment, look no further.
