

What experience or emotion do you want your audience to take from your music as a whole?

Connection. LOVE. Inspiration.

If you had the opportunity to get a message across to a large group of people, what would your message be?

This is without a doubt the most important question of all and the most significant. ABOVE anything else I want people to be inspired. I want them to know that they are brilliant, limitless, beautiful, powerful and intelligent - able to rise above negativity. They are able to achieve; able to overcome challenges; able to forgive...able to challenge authority in a productive way and define themselves. That we are able to heal ourselves; our world, our planet - and that we don't need to live with the dramas, the negative beliefs and perceptions; and that YES, we can achieve oneness.

We can achieve abundant health AND wealth. There is sooooo much I want to say. That I am flawed, and frail and vulnerable...and human and deeply conflicted at times; just as anyone else might be. That in my being totally imperfect, I am perfect because we are ALL the same and it means no one is better or worse.

This is about me saying I am a little of "this" and a little of "that" and "perfect" and "imperfect" and we are all on this journey together and nobody is better than you. I want to make a difference using this greatest of gifts that I have at my disposal. This, which I treasure, I intend to use my music to uplift and bring joy. I don't take this mission lightly.

How would you like to be remembered in the music industry?

As someone who was part of the "solution" and not the problem. A musical humanitarian among MANY who came before, are here now, and MANY who will come after.

What can we look forward to in the coming days, weeks or months from you?

I have plans to launch an elaborate merchandise line of positive uplifting art and gifts. I have design ideas and art for perfume; home decor and accessories such as ladies handbags - ALL giving back to various charities and causes. I have a very few amount of these initial ideas on my website and Facebook pages but I have very GRAND ideas and plans in the works! The larger ones are still yet to be unveiled.
