Starting Over

Words and music by Dean Richard, Copyright 2011

I'm starting over without you
Starting over is the right thing to do
That's right, I'm starting over
And babe, you will discover
It hurts me now
But I'll be fine without you
You know I love you still
I know I always will
It's time to face the fact
That we can't make it
We had our time, baby but now it's gone
Need a new lover 'cause you're not the one

I'm starting over without you
Starting over is all I can do
You like going out
I end up staying home
You're having drinks with friends
I can't reach you on the phone
You're never happy baby
I know that I am not
It's time to let it go
We gave it our best shot
We had our time, baby but now it's gone
Need a new lover 'cause you're not the one

I'm starting over without you
Starting over is the right thing to do
You want the TV
I'll take the DVR
You want the couch and chairs
I get the older car
We'll split the dishes
And we'll split the silverware
You can take it all
Because right now, I don't care
We had our time baby
But now it's gone
It's just too sad
To see it come undone

I'm starting over without you
Starting over is the right thing to do
