

She's on fire

Singer-songwriter Sarah Packiam is a musical chameleon, the Irish-Indian Miami resident moving easily from alluring pop tart to jazzy chanteuse to guitar-draped rocker. The latter is my favorite, and it's the Sarah Packiam you see on her new single and video "She's a Riot," which she calls an "homage to all mothers, sisters and daughters" and "a celebration of iconic women." The video shows Packiam raging through the lyrics — "She's on fire / She's on fire / You better watch your back / And don't you deny her" — over a slide show of dozens of strong females, among them Golda Meir, Rosa Parks, Billie Jean King, Anne Frank, Janis Joplin, Frida Kahlo, Yalitza Aparicio, Benazir Bhutto, Beyoncé and Emma Gonzalez. Packiam will celebrate the release of the song at 8 p.m. Friday at the Faena Miami Beach hotel. Visit SarahPackiam.com.
