SHORT BIO

100 Words

Hailed by Gramophone for his “vibrantly colorful palette” and “exquisite piano-playing,” American composer Henry Dehlinger has created an oeuvre of remarkable choral, chamber, and orchestral music that is transforming the landscape of contemporary music. Nineteen of his new works are premiering across the United States during the 2019-21 seasons, including three concert works, two chamber works, four choral songs, and ten art songs. All represent an innovative, but tonal American aesthetic that merges classical and vernacular elements. His latest album is At That Hour: Art Songs by Henry Dehlinger, released in 2020 by AVIE Records. Henry’s official website is www.HenryDehlinger.com.
