

SAD AND SORRY

© 2019 by Heather Pierson

I thought your life had turned out better
Than you could ever hope it to be
But still you liked to sit around and cry
'Everyone is better off than me'

Just so sad and sorry
And sittin' all alone
Just so sad and sorry
Ungrateful to the bone

When you smiled the whole world was singin'
And I could hum along with the tune
But when you were blue it was all I could do
Not to holler what I thought of you

You're so sad and sorry
And sittin' all alone
Just so sad and sorry
Ungrateful to the bone

I never thought I'd hear myself sayin'
That you were right and I was wrong
But I just couldn't see what was in front of me
I didn't listen and now you're gone

And now I'm sad and sorry
And I'm sittin' all alone
Just so sad and sorry
And I'm lonely to the bone
Just so sad and sorry
And now I wish you'd come home
