

NOW ALL I DO

© 2010 by Heather Pierson

You were supposed to be an escape for me
But now all I do is wonder when I'll see you
And all I wanted was to be free

I let myself be drawn into all your charm
But now all I do is yearn to be near you
To be the girl on your arm
Why did you have to come when you did?

I never realized that I could be despised
For only acting on and wanting what is true
But look at this mess! How can I be surprised?
Why did you have to come when you did?

Why did you have to come?
Why did you have to come when you did?
Why did you have to come?
Why did you have to come when you did?

Your timing sucks, your timing is lousy
I think I met you just a little too late

I chose to live my life as someone else's wife
But now all I do is wish that he was you
What once was joy feels like the sharpest knife
Why did you have to come when you did?

Why did you have come?
Why did you have to come when you did?
Why did you have come?
Why did you have to come when you did?
Why did you have come?
Why did you have to come when you did?
Why did you have come?
Why did you have to come when you did?

You were supposed to be just a fling for me
But now all I do is wonder why I'm not with you
