Heartsfield has toured the United States in each decade since the 1970s, having performed 5,000 shows for millions fans at fairs and festivals, stadiums, colleges and universities, clubs and bars, private parties, and in the streets. Having released 12 albums, sold millions of records, and helped pioneer the Americana-based Southern Rock/Country Rock music for which they are known, their shows are full of fun, up-tempo, foot-stompin' music that gets the crowd involved, singin' and dancin' away.

The band delivers on its promise of hot pickin', strong vocals, rich harmonies, driving rhythms, great songs, triple lead guitar work, and smiles from the stage, which have allowed them to last over four decades and still continue to please audiences with their growing catalogue of hits.

Having been signed by Mercury Records and later, Columbia Records, Heartsfield has produced numerous radio favorites and had Billboard charted records. Among them are "Music Eyes," "Shine On," "Here I Am," "The Only Time I'm Sober Is When You're Gone," "I'm Comin' Home," and "Racin' the Sun."

In the book, Counting Down Southern Rock: The 100 Best Songs, our song "Another Man Down" is listed and our self-titled album, Heartsfield, is listed as number 32 on the "100 + 1 Best Southern Rock Albums" list.

Our shows focus on our many hits and fan favorites, as well as a few covers of well known songs by groups with which we toured over the years such as The Doobie Brothers, Stephen Stills, Creedence Clearwater, and other well known acts.

On the following pages are examples of our recordings, press coverage by music industry critics and luminaries, and examples of Heartsfield's performance history.

“Country-rockers Heartsfield emerged during the '70s halcyon days of that genre. Heartsfield were known for their vocal harmonies and layers of rootsy instrumentation and have been credited with influencing such monster '90s acts as the Dave Matthews Band and Phish. The group was also known for their grueling, Grateful Dead-like touring ethic, which saw them playing 300 shows a year (And, like that aforementioned group, Heartsfield also had a propensity for extended jams.).”

Excerpt from author, Erik Hage on AllMusic.com

Heartsfield continues this jam-band musical tradition performing all shows live with amazing extended improvisational performances by all 5 band members. Fans are appreciative of the true musical creativity unlike many acts that are performing to recorded tracks. No two performances are exactly alike.

Guaranteed to get your toes a tappin',
your smiles a growin', and the fun a rollin'

For five decades, Heartsfield has been playing and recording some of the best Americana-based Southern/Country/Folk Rock music the nation has heard. One of the pioneers of these genres and having sold millions of records over the years, Heartsfield performs a mix of their classic hits and adds to each show new songs from more recent albums.

With the release of Heartsfield's album, Here I Am and the charted single of the same name, Heartsfield has come full circle. Here I Am was nominated for the Top Album of the year by leading radio station, WXRT of Chicago, IL. The album has also been named Midwest Album of the Year by nwi.com.

This release and the earlier release of Disrupting the Country has continued the creativity shown by Heartsfield over the years.
