

UP THE RIVER

Copyright 1994 Calman Hart

With my hand on the trigger of a smoking gun
God knows I never meant to hurt no one
For your love there's not much I wouldn't do
But I never dreamed
I would sail up the river for you

Proudly indignant I buried your name
I turned my back and shouldered the blame
Even now I don't know what I proved
And my heart feels like lead
As I sail up the river for you

As I stare out the window of this hell I'm in Trying not to think of what a fool I've been
I close my eyes and pray it just isn't true
But my innocence fades
As I sail up the river for you

With my face in my hands
I will sail up the river for you
