

Anymore

From the album "Pocket Change" by Berkley Hart
Written by Jeff Berkley

We always said it ain't that bad
So maybe that's why I feel so sad
I know the way, so do you
There's only one where there once was two

Even though the wind blows free
There's only so much air to breathe
It hurts so bad to close the door
But I am not in your heart anymore

I can't curse, I can't cry
Ever since we said goodbye
Our blues were read between the lines
I never saw the warning signs

Even though the scars go deep
I can't blame you, I can't blame me
We tried and tried, tried some more
But you are not in my heart anymore

Even though you're a part of me
The other part has been set free
It hurts so bad to close the door
You are not in my heart anymore