

Tumbleweed

Jack Tempchin

Don't hang your dreams baby
On a rolling stone
I say just let it go
Just leave it alone
Cause it really don't matter
What you want to believe
You never will fence in a
Rolling tumbleweed

Don't hang your dreams baby
On a rolling stone
Like a shiny thing hung
On a Christmas tree
Come New Year's day it's gone
And if he said he loved you
And if you knew it was true
All the same you know damn well
He ain't no good for you

You better find somebody to love you
A little bit closer to home
And do not ever hang your dreams
On a rolling stone

Don't hang your dreams baby
On a rolling stone
It's time to let it go
And walk away alone
And maybe some tomorrow
When he's far down the road
You'll laugh about the time
You thought you loved a rolling stone
