

Videos - all on you tube for easier access

If anyone would like anything captioned which isn't, or has only poor quality auto-generated captions, join Amara.org. It's free. There are volunteer captioners there in virtually every language. Upload the video of your choice from a publicly accessible link. Someone will eventually (sometimes immediately) caption it.

News story about the WPA project, in which former slaves were recorded on audio interviews. Those interviews are widely available online. WPA was a work project in which the government sought to employ various American citizens in their former lines of work. There were creative jobs as well as labor jobs. This project put writers and journalists to work.
