

CONTRIBUTE TODAY & SHARE IN OUR HISTORY FOREVER

The Native American Music Awards & Association, a 501(c)(3) public service organization, or NAMA, is the country's leading professional membership-based music association dedicated to promoting and preserving Native American music throughout the United States and around the world.

Since our inception in 1998, NAMA has remained the #1 leading music and cultural organization committed to preserving and promoting the history and heritage of Native America for the world.

The Awards show and non-profit Association honor leading music makers from all tribal nations. As a publicly supported organization, we rely solely on the contributions from our membership fees and the generous donations from Tribal Nations, casinos & corporations.

Run by an all-volunteer staff, the organization relies on the generous contributions of our donors and sponsors. Their continued support allow us to remain the largest professional organization for Native American music initiatives with a growing global audience.

The Association deeply thanks our donors, national and international membership, artists, friends and family for their support over the past twelve years.

All the professionalism & production values of much larger events like the Grammy Awards and the American Music Awards."
American Federation of Television & Radio Artists

"It's Time To Start Taking Native American Music Seriously"
USA Today

"Awesome, Incredible, Amazing."
Indian Country Today

"There is no better indication of the remarkable variety of today's Native American music than a glance at the award categories for the Native American Music Awards."
