THE TEAM.

As a member of the Minnesota Power Automotive Services group, AutoVIN covers the U.S. and Canada with a team of highly professional, company-employed field managers who are backed by technology and support you won't find anywhere else in the industry.

All field managers have proven track records in areas including insurance adjusting, collision estimating, auto mechanics, and automotive finance. All receive intensive in-house training on AutoVIN services and specific client requirements. And you'll know them on the job by their neat appearance in khakis, collared AutoVIN shirts and photo ID badges.

Not just anyone can work for AutoVIN. To be considered for employment, candidates must undergo comprehensive background checks and drug testing to ensure the highest level of character and integrity.

THE TECHNOLOGY.

Equipped with Windows® CE handheld computers and digital cameras, field managers record all inspection and audit data on-site. After assignments are completed they capture signatures electronically and generate printed field reports.

AutoVIN's software, developed by an in-house team, guides the field managers step-by-step through each assignment and uses standardized on-screen options to ensure consistent results. Yet every application can be easily and quickly adapted to meet specific client needs and the demands of a rapidly changing marketplace.

So how does the technology work? AutoVIN's Doppler Dispatch System™ automatically downloads inspection and audit assignments to each field manager's handheld computer. The same day assignments are completed, field managers upload results and digital images to AutoVIN's Central Information Management System™ (CIMS). By the next morning, your company can access the information and pictures online through AutoVIN's secure web site.

MORE POWER, BETTER HANDLING.

Using the power of the Internet and leading edge technology, AutoVIN handles automotive information services like no other company in the industry. On any given night, AutoVIN processes data for hundreds of thousands of vehicles. And on any given morning, countless AutoVIN customers find themselves that much farther ahead of the curve. Go with AutoVIN, and you'll be there, too.
