

A New Carol (Carol of the Bells)

Hark hear the bells sweet silver bells
All seem to say throw cares away

1.
For so long the world lay in darkness
To some the Messiah had become
Not more than just a fable then all at once
Hope collides with fear
Light pierces the dark
As the promised Word became flesh
Now we sing

Chorus
Hark hear the bells sweet silver bells
All seem to say throw cares away
Christmas is here bringing good cheer
To young and old meek and the bold

A babe is born sing and rejoice
Tell everyone Jesus is come
Love in a baby born in a manger
Now we can sing Christmas is here

Merry merry merry merry Christmas (repeat)

2.
Heartache has plagued us for so long
To some this holiday has become
A painful reminder of hurt and strife
But this is why He came
To take your cares away
And behold He makes all things new
So you can sing

Bridge
Hear the bells ring with gladness He has come to take your sadness
Joy from Heaven life is given Peace to all men

Love is born oh – oh
Hope is restored oh – oh
Peace can be known
Hark hear the bells singing your name
Jesus is saying
I've come to take your cares away
