

In the Stillness

©1996 By Annabella Wood

There is a place in you where there is perfect peace.
There is a place in you where there is unlimited power.
There is a place in you where love abides.
There is a place in you that is the stillness.

In the stillness, lie the answers, to the questions, on my mind.
It's important, that I listen, and make, the answers mine.
In the stillness, solutions, are available, to me.
For all of, my life questions, and listening is the key.

Once, I've heard the answers, then I must follow through.
And believe what it tells me, and to do what I must do.

In the stillness, lie the answers, to everything I face.
And for every situation, known to, the human race.
So I'm still, and listening, to the voice, that's within.
I follow where it leads me. For here's where life begins.

In the stillness, Lie the answers,
To the questions, On my mind.